

Before the In. no call law, I was being awakened by sales calls in the mornings and as late as 8pm at night. It didn't do any good to tell them not to call because someone else from their co. would call again. It really is nearly a form of harrassment that I don't think we should have to endure. I pay to have my phone no. non-published and that doesn't even help. We should be allowed to have our peace and quiet in our homes. Please do not allow them to take this away from us. If I want their services, I'll call them.
